AIRA Announces the 2023 Best Practice Investor Relations Awards Winners

The winners of the 2023 Australasian Investor Relations Awards were announced last night at the Annual AIRA Best Practice Investor Relations Awards.

The Australasian Investor Relations Awards recognise listed entities that have excelled in Investor Relations over the past year. Winners are determined based on voting by domestic and international equities analysts and fund managers.

“This year’s awards come at a time of heightened volatility in financial markets and also a return to good old in person meetings with investors in Australasia and overseas. We have also seen a record level of engagement between listed entities and the investment community via broker conferences, roadshows, investor days and site tours”, AIRA’s CEO, Ian Matheson said. “As always with our investor relations awards, it is the investment community who determine the winners and we are grateful to them for voting again this year. Congratulations to all IR team members from winning and short-listed companies”.

In addition to the awards for listed entities AIRA has four sell-side awards, to recognise the contribution and importance of the broking community, in particular corporate access and sales teams within investment banks and stockbroking firms who assist companies’ access and connect with investors around the world. These award winners were determined based on voting from investor relations professionals from listed entities.

The award winners are listed on the following page.
